This will be Dr. Maher's first chapter address of his President-Elect tenure. Many of you know our long-serving NECHPS member and past president, but for those that don't know Ed, here's a short background: He has made his way through academia at Lowell (LTI vintage), WPI, and Harvard. He has also served our country in the Air Force, performing a variety of health physics assignments, including direction of environmental and occupational health services for USAF facilities worldwide. In his long and distinguished career in health physics, Ed has also worked for Arthur D. Little, Yankee Atomic Electric Company, and Framatome-ANP. Ed is currently an Associate with Dade Moeller & Associates, Inc. and an adjunct faculty member at the Harvard School of Public Health.
